

Table of Contents

Radio Noodles does Node-L #1: Buckspace	1
---	---

Radio Noodles does Node-L #1: Backspace

URL:

radionoodles.org.uk/show_file_info_shell.php?file_id=58

London based experimental media centre 'Backspace' opened in 1996. Through its provision of web services for locals and enthusiasts it became a place frequented by artists and those wanting to experiment with the emerging internet technology. It closed in late December 1999 and is now a Starbucks coffee shop.

As part of Node-London a 'reanimating' of Backspace took place at the Starbucks on Sunday 5th March 2006.

Download or listen to a podcast of interviews and nostalgia from the event at:

http://radionoodles.org.uk/show_file_info_shell.php?file_id=58

Also see:

<http://bak.spc.org/>

<http://www.medialounge.net/lounge/workspace/crashhtml/cc/23.htm>