Re:TX

ReTransmission is a gathering of citizen journalists, video makers, artists, programmers and web producers who are developing online video distribution tools for social justice and media democracy.

The Free Open Source Software community has provided a wide number of production and distribution tool on the Net, while the Creative Commons copyleft licence offers a way to share content without commercial exploitation. The event has been organised to add to the work of these and other communities to contribute to the building of real world usable tools for distributing and sharing video online.

The gathering is participant run and will made up of discussions, workshops, screenings, training, presentations and a 24/7 lab. The meeting runs from 13,14,15 Oct. 2006 in London.
